

Kranebet®

The botanical drink

Kranebet®

80 Proof - 750 ml

Produced in Italy by Rossi d'Asiago, distillers since 1868, Kranebet is a rich, elegant, aromatic liquor with a predominant juniper taste. Made with pure natural ingredients without any artificial flavoring, Kranebet is obtained by the distillation of juniper berries and other botanicals, such as gentian roots, wormwood, coriander and quassia bark.

Almost 100 years of history...

Created in 1924 by the founder of the Rossi d'Asiago distillery, Giovan Battista Rossi, in Asiago, an enchanting mountain location in the Italian pre-Alps. The name Kranebet comes from the word "kraneweta" which in Cimbrian language means "bitter grains": this is how the juniper plant was called by this ancient pre-alpine population.

KranebeTonic

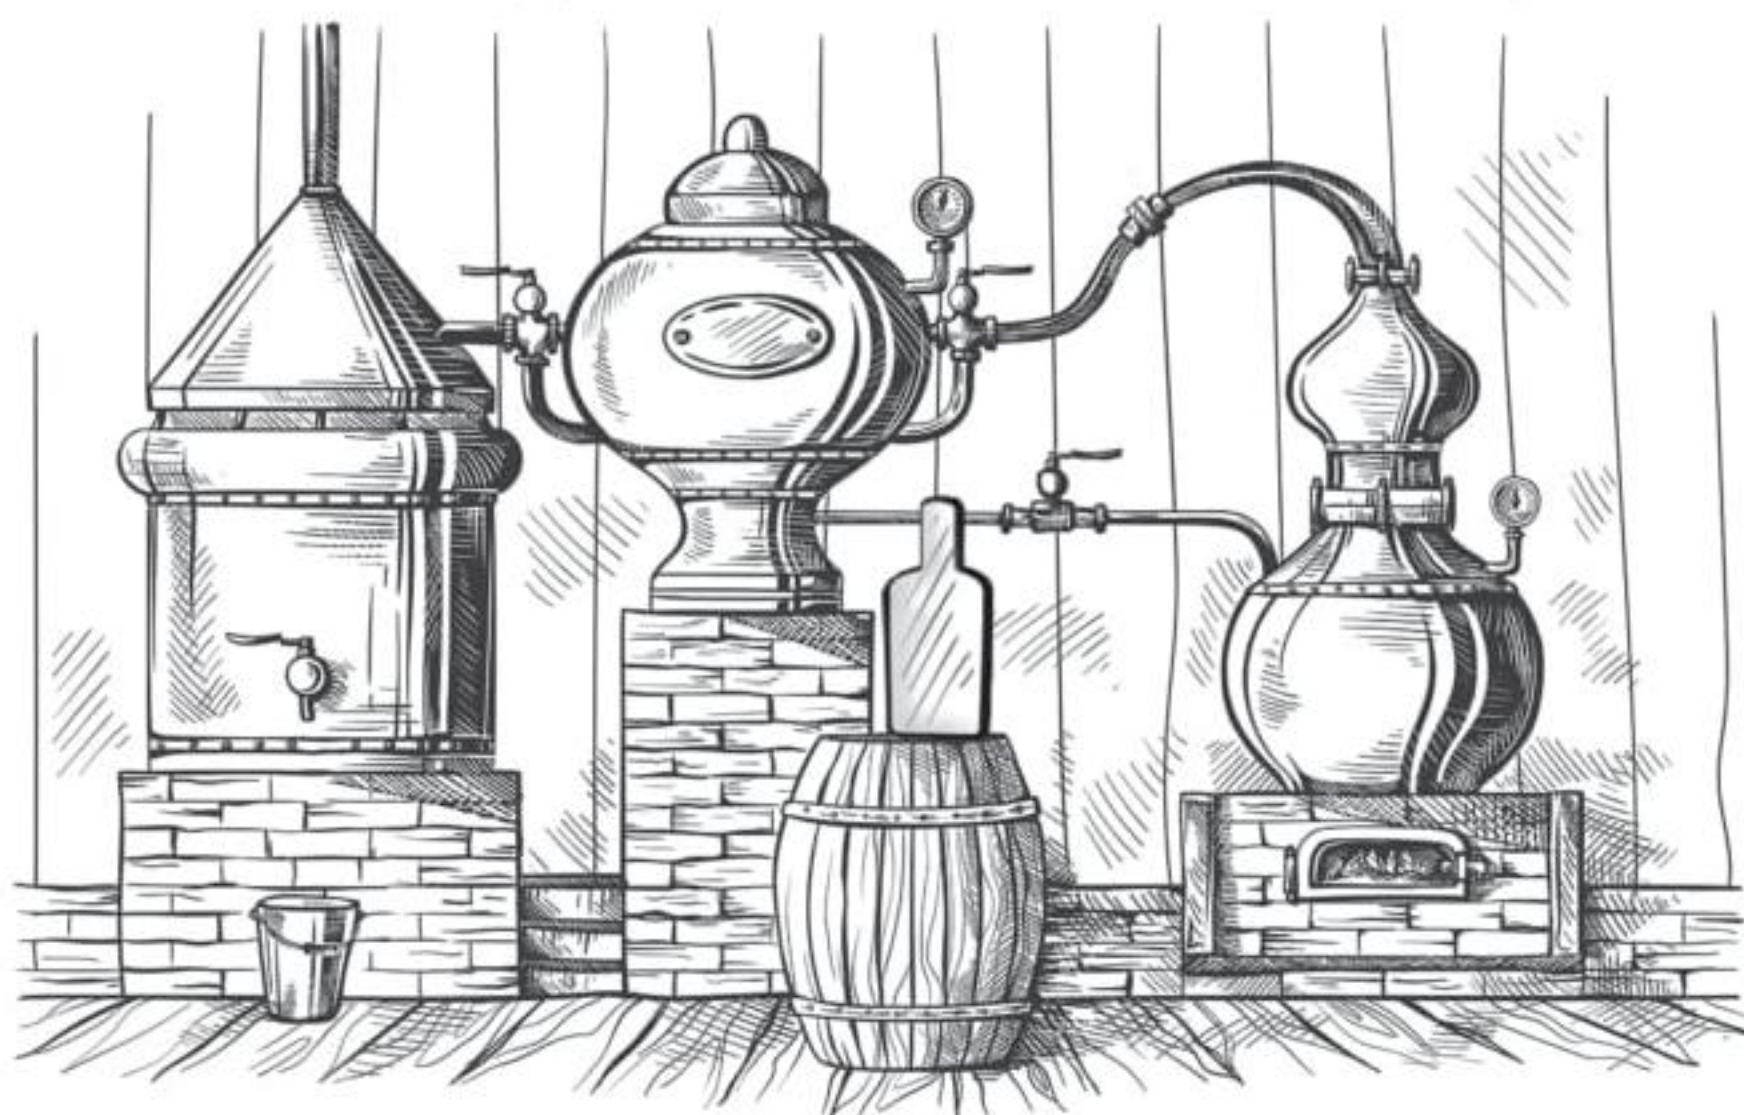

A legendary modern taste: a soft and pleasant cocktail with distinctive aromatic notes.

Try the new Italian aperitif!

Fill a glass with ice cubes.
Add 1 part of Kranebet and 3 parts of tonic water.
Garnish with 3 juniper berries and a lemon peel, or your favorite garnish.

Distilled with traditional method

The juniper distillate is obtained with a traditional copper still with bain-marie system.

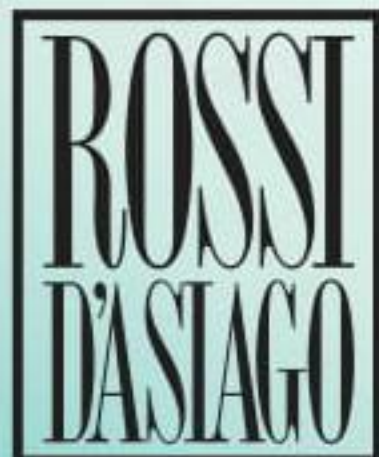

Tasting notes

The taste is aromatic and persistent, with predominant juniper notes. The wormwood and the gentian root give this liquor a delicate bitter and herbaceous note, while the quassia bark is responsible for the soft wooden hint.

Kranebet is an excellent liquor that can be enjoyed neat, chilled, on the rocks, or mixed in cocktails, like the KranebeTonic.
