

"IF WE MAKE IT BACK ALIVE, I'M GOING TO CREATE THE GREATEST TEQUILA IN THE WORLD... FOR OUR BROTHERS AND SISTERS COMING HOME."

— Taylor Grieger, Founder & Navy Veteran

After six years in the U.S. Navy, Taylor was diagnosed with PTSD and survived a suicide attempt. Turning pain into purpose, he set sail on a two-year expedition across the planet's deadliest waters—Cape Horn—to raise awareness for the Veteran suicide epidemic.

Facing 70-foot seas and extreme storms, he promised his crew: "If we make it back alive, I'm going to end Veteran suicide and create the best damn tequila in the world."

That promise led to years of searching Mexico for pure water and 100% Highland Blue Weber Agave. Crafted using proprietary distillation without additives, Cape Horn Tequila was born—a spirit built on adventure, resilience, and unyielding purpose.

DRIVING AWARENESS & SAVING LIVES

Skeleton Crew Adventures (501c3)

A portion of all proceeds from Cape Horn Tequila directly funds Skeleton Crew Adventures. Through therapeutic offshore sailing expeditions, SCA has brought hundreds of Veterans and First Responders living with PTSD on healing voyages—with a 100% life-saving impact rate.

The Documentary (Hell or High Seas)

Taylor's harrowing journey is featured in the award-winning documentary Hell or High Seas. In partnership with the USO, Mission 22, Combined Arms, and the Travis Manion Foundation, Taylor screens the film across military bases worldwide to drive discussions around PTSD recovery.
